KINEMA MILLENIUM 19:30-21:30

Date: Friday, October, 18th, 2019

19:30 – 21:30h

Venue: Kinema Millenium, Murat Toptani St. Tirana, ALBANIA

Hosted by the University of Tirana in cooperation with the University of Vienna

Living rivers are the veins of our planet. They support an immense amount of plant and animal species, bring sand to our beaches, produce high quality drinking water and provide many other services for people. If we let them flow. Unfortunately, many rivers have been destroyed. This makes the remaining free flowing rivers even more important to all of us.

The Wild Rivers Night celebrates the world's last wild rivers, with live music by "Asgjë Sikur Dielli" and selected talks by:

"Ecological Values and Lessons Learned from Natural Rivers"

by Prof. Robert J. Naiman, University of Washington in Seattle, USA

"Our Rivers in 2045"

by Prof. Klement Tockner, Austrian Science Fund FWF, Vienna

"Europe's natural heritage: The Vjosa river"

by Prof. Aleko Miho, Faculty of Natural Sciences, University of Tirana
